Economic Opportunity

One of the most important things we can do to build a better America is to create more economic opportunity for all Americans. This means investing in education and job training, raising the minimum wage, and making it easier for people to start businesses.

Smith also argues that we need to do more to address the problem of income inequality. He proposes a number of policies to do this, including raising taxes on the wealthy, expanding the earned income tax credit, and providing more affordable housing.

Environmental Sustainability

Climate change is one of the most pressing challenges facing our planet. We need to take action now to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions and transition to a clean energy economy.

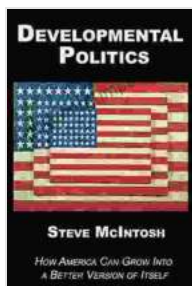

Smith provides a number of specific recommendations for how we can do this, including investing in renewable energy, increasing energy efficiency, and reducing our reliance on fossil fuels.

Social Justice

We also need to do more to address the problem of social injustice in America. This means fighting for racial equality, LGBTQ rights, and women's rights.

Smith provides a number of specific recommendations for how we can do this, including passing comprehensive immigration reform, ending mass incarceration, and increasing funding for affordable healthcare and education.

How America Can Grow Into a Better Version of Itself is a must-read for anyone who cares about the future of America. It is a timely and important contribution to the national conversation about how we can create a better tomorrow.
